Job Vacancy

We are sad to say that Mrs Bevan will be leaving us at the end of this term having worked as a lunchtime supervisor at Manor for about a year. In that time she has become a firm favourite with the children and she will be missed. We wish her well with her new role where she will have increased hours.

This leaves a vacancy for someone to join our lunchtime team. We are looking for someone with experience of working with children, whether professionally or on a voluntary basis, who is compassionate and caring but can also be firm but fair when required. If you, or someone you know, is interested there are more details of the role and how to apply on the WMJobs website. Alternatively pop into school and ask at the office.

Sainsbury's Vouchers

Thank you to those who are collecting these vouchers for us. The total is steadily building and we should be able to get something good for school if we keep this up. Well done so far!

Nursery Places

We still have a small number of nursery places available for the afternoons, to start after Easter. If you know of anyone who wants to give their child an early taste of school life in a small school setting with Miss Percival and Mrs Smith then do send them our way.

Art at Manor

Too much emphasis in schools these days can be placed on the core subjects of maths and English often to the detriment of the other subjects. Of course English and Maths are the key gateway subjects to accessing the curriculum at secondary school and we will always strive to get the best from the children at Manor. We do however often hear from the children that what they would like to have more of in school is art. In order to redress the balance a little we have organised a series of art projects led by Miss Percival who is art leader in school. On Monday next week we have an artist from Lichfield who will work with Owls on making and printing images of David Garrick (of Garrick Theatre fame) 300 years after his birth to be displayed in the Guildhall in Lichfield on May 1st. We also have a project to include children from all classes inspired by the Trust council students who have asked us to paint some tiles on the theme of 'friendship' before exchanging them with the other Trust schools to make a display. There are further projects planned for the summer term over and above the art that children do in class anyway.
